

Eliana J. Theodorou

ELIANA THEODOROU is an associate at Outten & Golden LLP in New York. She is a member of the firm's Individual and Class Action Practice Areas. She represents classes of employees in a wide range of class action discrimination and wage and hour lawsuits, including cases involving criminal history discrimination, off-the-clock work, and overtime misclassification. She also represents individual employees in litigation, arbitration, and negotiation in all areas of employment law, with a focus on discrimination and harassment. She co-chairs the Firm's Public Interest Committee. Ms. Theodorou received her B.A. with high honors from Wesleyan University in 2012, and her J.D., magna cum laude and Order of the Coif, from New York University School of Law in 2018, where she served as an Executive Editor of New York University Law Review. During law school, Ms. Theodorou served as a clinic student with the New York Civil Liberties Union, and NYU Law's Family Defense Clinic. She also worked on civil rights and employment matters as a law clerk at Beldock, Levine & Hoffman, LLP. Prior to joining Outten & Golden, Ms. Theodorou clerked for the Honorable Gabriel W. Gorenstein of the Southern District of New York.
